How Do You Describe God

How do you describe God? On one hand, Elohim is the God of Genesis, the creator God. But God is described by many names in the Old Testament. He is the God who sees, the God who saves, the God who provides, and among many other descriptive names, He is the God of judgment. God is a lot of different things to a lot of different people at different times.

How does God describe Himself? Well, there is one place in scripture where God does just that. Exodus 34:6-7
6 Then the LORD passed by in front of him and proclaimed, "The LORD, the LORD God, compassionate and gracious, slow to anger, and abounding in lovingkindness and truth; 7 who keeps lovingkindness for thousands, who forgives iniquity, transgression and sin; yet He will by no means leave the guilty unpunished, visiting the iniquity of fathers on the children and on the grandchildren to the third and fourth generations."

God uses His proper name, (YHWH) in this passage and states it twice. He then gives five attributes that characterize His nature: compassionate, gracious, slow to anger, abounding in lovingkindness and abounding in truth. These would all be very welcome to the Hebrew nation which had just broken their covenant with God by making a golden calf.

Next, God states His adherence to covenant, it literally means He keeps His lovingkindness to thousands of generations, not just people. Lastly, He speaks of His forgiveness which He had just demonstrated to the Hebrew Nation, by renewing His covenant to them after their severe transgression.

God then ends with a warning. Despite His forgiving nature, He will punish the guilty, even if it looks like they are getting away with it, vengeance is coming. This is probably the most misunderstood part of the passage. It certainly does not mean that the sin will be passed to the ones who did not sin. It could possibly have several meanings. One meaning is that just because one generation was punished for a sin, it does not mean the next generation can get away with it or be excused from it because they learned it from their fathers. Sin is Sin, and from generation to generation, it will remain punishable. As for other meanings, I discussed them in my sermon Sunday morning. Please feel free to listen on Facebook or YouTube and review them.
