Remorse and Repentance

In my life, I have made many mistakes. I can, honestly, say that I have been sorry for those when they were pointed out to me. That is what remorse is—sorrow for an action. Judas was remorseful in Matthew 27. He returned the thirty pieces of silver, admitted that he had betrayed innocent blood, and then he hung himself. He turned from, or repented of, the wrong but could not find forgiveness.

Many of us do this in our lives. We are remorseful for our past events; sorrow floods our souls. We feel we should have to, somehow, pay for our wrongs. We have repentance, in effect, we will not commit the same action, and we have turned from our wrong. The problem is, we have not accepted forgiveness. Like a child who is caught in a misdeed will not look up to meet our gaze, we do not look up out of our shame to the Christ.

Godly repentance is not just turning from error, it is turning to Christ. Christ wants you to look up into His eyes, He wants to embrace you in love, and to rest on His promise that He forgives. Judas was truly remorseful of his actions, but he could not let go of the past, he could not undo what was done. Do not follow the path of Judas. Jesus knows we cannot change the past, so He covers it in His blood.

Remember, repentance is not just about turning from wrong, it is about turning toward Christ—toward forgiveness. As a Christian, you are forgiven, that is the promise so repent and live.

Acts 3:19 (NASB95) "Therefore repent and return, so that your sins may be wiped away, in order that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord;
